

Blood Brothers — scene focus notes

CCDesigner prototype overview — original outlines for demo planning only. Not a paid publisher pack. Logos and product names do not imply endorsement.

Useful moments for practical work

- Childhood games / Marilyn Monroe motif
- Narrator interventions and omen sequences
- Mickey / Eddie reunion (class gap through proxemics)
- Final confrontation / design for fate and tragedy

Directing questions

Where is the class gap clearest without dialogue?

How does the Narrator shape audience irony?

Which physical detail most clearly signals class?

Exam rehearsal tip

Ask students to lock one intention, one skill, one precise moment, then one audience effect before they write.
